FOLLOWED BY Q&A SESSION WITH THE DIRECTOR AND HIGH TEA.

The hawkers' calls, captivating characters in their own essence, breathe life into Kolkata's bustling lanes. At daybreak, their resonant melodies fill the air, accompanying the arrival of a new dawn. Throughout the day, they carry away the passing hours, their voices echoing through the city's narrow by-lanes. And as the day surrenders to dusk, these calls bid farewell, leaving behind their lingering echoes, ready to reunite with the city's rhythm anew.
